Parents, Families and Friends of the Class of 1985,

On this, our twenty-fifth year as a liberal arts college of the University of Minnesota, we are breaking a tradition which was established in 1971. For the past 14 years we have had two speakers at our commencement ceremonies. Selected by a vote of senior students and UMM faculty, one speaker was a faculty member and the other was a graduating senior.

We have altered that tradition this year by way of a tribute to Kenneth H. Keller, the new President of the University of Minnesota. This occasion will provide you with the opportunity to hear President Keller express his opinions and beliefs on the development of ethical values on a secular campus.

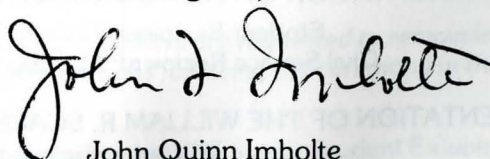

Kenneth H. Keller is the twelfth in a 135-year line of succession of University of Minnesota presidents, beginning in 1869 with William Watts Folwell. Keller grew up in Brooklyn, New York, in a neighborhood where he guesses that 90 percent of the parents had never gone to college, and yet, where 90 percent of the children probably would. Although he developed an early interest in science, he was also a young admirer of the operettas of Gilbert and Sullivan.

At Columbia University, as an undergraduate liberal arts student, he concentrated on chemistry and English. Since the Reserve Officers Training Corps Program paid for his education, he was obligated upon graduation in 1957 to serve in the U.S. Navy, where he worked with Admiral Hyman Rickover. Completing his naval tour, he entered graduate school at Johns Hopkins University and earned his doctorate in 1964. He then came to the University of Minnesota to teach and develop his research interests in bio-engineering — specifically, applying the techniques of engineering to the practice of medicine.

In 1973, he accepted his first major administrative position in the University as Associate Dean of the Graduate School, and then, when the Dean left for a position elsewhere, became Acting Dean. When the position as Dean was filled on a permanent basis, Keller returned to the Department of Chemical Engineering and Material Sciences. In 1978, he was appointed Head of that Department. In 1980, he was appointed to the second most prestigious post in the University, that of Vice President for Academic Affairs. Last November, he became the University's Acting President after C. Peter Magrath announced his resignation. Then, in March, he was appointed President on a permanent basis by the Board of Regents. Perhaps President Keller's most notable recent accomplishment is his document entitled "Commitment to Focus." In it, he recommends for consideration many changes throughout the University of Minnesota, all of which have the common objective of improving its academic quality.

President Keller is extremely articulate, a brilliant thinker, and a person who appears to possess an inexhaustible store of energy. He enjoys people and is an especially effective spokesman both within and outside the University. It is a pleasure and indeed, an honor, to have him speak tonight on our 25th anniversary.

Best Regards,

American Academic Apparel

American academic apparel goes back in its essential features to the middle ages. The oldest northern European universities grew out of church schools. Both faculty and students were regarded as part of the clergy and wore clerical garb based upon monastic dress routinely, rather than merely on special occasions.

The head covering, developed from the skull cap, acquired a point on top, which gradually evolved into a tassel. In Europe the bonnet with tassel is still worn, but has been replaced in America by the mortar board with tassel.

The hood was originally worn over the head in bad weather and otherwise dropped onto the shoulders like a monk's cowl. First worn by both faculty and students, the hood became restricted to graduates in the early sixteenth century. Today the hood is lined with the official colors of the alma mater. In addition, the borders of most hoods are colored according to the scholarly field of the wearer. Some hood border colors are: maize (agriculture), white (arts, letters, humanities), drab (business), copper (economics), light blue (education), brown (fine arts), crimson (journalism), purple (law), lemon (library science), pink (music), apricot (nursing), silver gray (speech), dark blue (philosophy), sage green (physical education), salmon pink (public health), golden yellow (science), cream (social science), citron (social work), and scarlet (theology).

The gown seems to have been borrowed from the Benedictine monk's habit. In the middle ages, undergraduates, bachelors and masters could be distinguished by the simplicity or elaborateness of their gowns. The master's gowns were often furred, a decoration surviving as the three velvet bars now used on the voluminous sleeves of the doctoral gown.
